* This table is indicative, it can find the size that best fits your foot. The measured size gives only an approximation of the required size. Since feet are rarely the same size, it's best to measure both. The longest foot between the two will be the size you need.

If the foot gives a measurement between two sizes, take the larger one. From one model to another, the size of a shoe may differ from that of the foot because some models are made larger than others.

Under no circumstances can we be held responsible for footwear that does not fit your foot.
